

Resource Tool Kit for Module Two:

“It’s not your mother’s library anymore!”

1. The estimated time for completion is approximately 3 hours.
2. You will need a computer with a microphone – an external mic is best, but not necessary.
3. Watch the tutorials in VoiceThread for specific platform directions – feel free to contact instructor

Okay, you have:

- Read Chapters one and two
- Read the April 2009 article found in Education World:
http://www.educationworld.com/a_admin/admin/admin178.shtml

Before we delve deeper into our work, I would like you to experience VoiceThreads. This experience will replace the “optional real time discussion”

To accomplish this Tool Kit:

1. Go to: <http://voicethread.com/#home>
2. Watch the video: What is a VoiceThread anyway?
3. Experience the VoiceThread created by Della Curtis – you will scroll down to the bottom of the page to find it: <http://voicethread.com/library/1/>
4. Create an account
5. Participate in our Voice Thread : <http://voicethread.com/share/843859/>
6. After February 14: Go back and listen to contributions

Documentation Requirement and Due Date

Documentation Requirement: Contribution to our Voice Thread.

Due by February 14

Respond to the following questions using the Voice Thread created for our class. Make sure that your photo. As with all of our assignments, if you do not work in a school – do some research – ask the media specialist from a school in your area

Based on the characteristics (listed in Education Week) of libraries that support student achievement

1. How well is library media program in your school structured to support student achievement?
2. What changes would you recommend to the program to more effectively support student achievement?
3. Would you consider using VoiceThreads as teaching tool? Why/why not... how?
