Instructions: Pick another student in the class, introduce yourself, and ask one question from the game board above. If the student meets the definition, write that person's first and last name in the square, and then move to another student; if that student does not meet the definition, move on. One question per student. A Bingo is five squares in any direction. When you get a bingo, yell "Bingo!" and you can sit down. You then will introduce the students who made your bingo possible.
