

POTENTIAL RETREAT SITES

As you prepare to seek a site that is a good fit with your needs and desires, one of the first concerns you may have is: "how much will it cost?" Don't be afraid to ask to use the site for free or in exchange for work done (a service project) at the site. Be sure to emphasize the purpose of your group, that the group will be well supervised, and how much of an impact the donation of space would make.
