What is the Arts & Humanities Exploratory Track?
• The Track is designed for first-year students to explore majors and potential careers in Art, Communication Studies, English, Humanities, Mass Media, Philosophy, and World Languages & Cultures while still completing general education requirements.

What are the benefits of participating in the Arts & Humanities Exploratory Track?
• Designed for a small group of 25 students, participants will benefit from a supportive environment as they navigate through their first year on a University campus.
• Students have flexibility to develop semester course plans which interest them and also lead to degree completion in a timely and cost-effective manner. The Track includes program milestones to help guide students’ progress.
• Students will be exposed to the advantages of an Arts & Humanities degree which includes good analytical and writing skills, an ability to connect different areas of knowledge, and a deeper understanding of their own culture as it contrasts with other world-views.

What courses are included in the Arts & Humanities Exploratory Track?
• Three (3) courses are predetermined for the fall and spring semesters.
  o Fall semester courses include:
    - Public Speaking (CMST 102)
    - Intro to Ethics (PHIL 120W)
    - Elements and Principles of Art (ART 100)
  o Spring semester courses include:
    - Intro to Mass Media (MASS 110)
    - Intro to Humanities (HUM 101W)
    - Exploring Arts & Humanities (AH 101)
• Students can choose more courses in addition to the above required Exploratory Track courses. The additional courses could include any class offered at the University.

Are there any scholarships available for the Arts & Humanities Exploratory Track?
• Scholarships, in the amount of $1,500.00, will be awarded to eight (8) eligible students at the end of their first year.
