SPEECH COMMUNICATION MFA

College of Arts and Humanities
Department of Speech Communication
230 Armstrong Hall • 507-389-2213

Speech Communication offers programs leading to the Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, and the Master of Science degrees. Programs are available for all students who have a bachelor's degree. Students must complete graduate courses in communication theory and research methods and may design the remainder of their program with the approval of the Graduate Coordinator in Speech Communication.

Admission. In addition to completing the minimum requirements for the College of Graduate Studies and Research, students must also have a GPA of 2.75 or better in overall undergraduate studies and a 3.0 for the last two years of undergraduate work. In one packet, students should submit the following items: three letters of recommendation from individuals qualified to judge competence in speech communication scholarship (e.g., a writing sample demonstrating research, sound analysis, organization and evidence such as a term paper, convention paper, professional report); and a statement of personal, educational and professional goals.

The Graduate Coordinator examines applications and determines if requirements have been met. If an applicant does not meet the requirements, admission may be provisional. Probationary status will be provided for applicants with an undergraduate degree whose GPA is below admission standards under the following conditions: Acceptable performance on the GRE of 1200 OR acceptance of a student petition and contingency of adherence to contract terms formulated by graduate faculty. Completion of the contract requirements will result in a change to a regular admission status.

Students with a major in Speech Communication may repeat any course in the department in an effort to improve grades. A student may repeat a specific course only once. In exceptional circumstances, a student may appeal to the department chair for a second repeat of a course. The official grade for the course, listings on a student's transcript, and other matters related to course repeats will adhere to appropriate university policies.

CERTIFICATE IN SPEECH COMMUNICATION

This program is designed to serve a number of functions. First, it will provide professional skills and knowledge (and certification) for professionals seeking to enhance their communication abilities. Second, it will serve as an entry-point for students who may at some later point seek a full graduate degree in Speech Communication. Third, community and technical college faculty seeking credentialing as communication faculty could use this program. Board policy 3.29 (and procedure 3.29.1) note that a minimum of 16 semester graduate credits is required in the field in which a faculty member seeks credentialing. This certificate program would provide faculty with 12 of the 16 required minimum credits in the communication field.
