WHAT DEGREE AND PROGRAM DO WE OFFER?

We offer a Bachelor of Science degree in Sport Management.

EXAMINING THE QUALITY OF OUR PROGRAM

History

The Minnesota State University, Mankato's Sport Management Program is the oldest in the Midwest. Over the years it has evolved into a nationally recognized program with a strong tradition of academic excellence and applied hands-on learning experiences. Currently, the program has the greatest number of Human Performance undergraduate and graduate students of any program within the department. The curriculum meets the guidelines recommended by the North American Society of Sport Managers (NASSM) yet also emphasizes the importance of experiential learning and application of information to real-world sport management problems and issues.

Faculty

The sport management faculty all hold doctorates and are active researchers and scholars within the industry. Our research focuses include such applied topics as youth sport management, coaching, diversity and gender issues, and leadership. Our faculty have also received numerous grants for teaching, technology, curriculum revision, and research. Recently, our program has placed increased emphasis on global solutions and has incorporated more study abroad/away initiatives.

Advisory Board

The sport management program created the advisory board in the fall of 2009. Members of the board include sport business leaders from various sport organizations including: Lifetime Fitness, Minnesota Twins, Vikings, and Timberwolves, Minnesota State Mankato Athletics, Daktronics, NAIA, and many more. The members of the board provide advice to improve our program and opportunities for our students through volunteer work or internships.

WHAT CAREER OPPORTUNITIES ARE AVAILABLE FOR STUDENTS COMPLETING THIS PROGRAM?

The sport management industry is a $200 billion dollar industry with a plethora of job opportunities. Graduates from this program work in fields such as: Professional sport franchises (major and minor leagues), high school and college athletics, media, public relations, amateur and youth sport organizations, college intramural/recreation departments, sport equipment and apparel companies, the health and fitness industry and sport marketing. Alumni from Minnesota State Mankato's Sport Management program hold jobs in many different areas across the nation.

STUDENT EXPERIENCES

The sport management program places a strong emphasis on experiential learning where they take the theory provided in class and put it into action. Within our classes students obtain hands-on experience creating comprehensive marketing plans, developing and implementing events, balancing and working with a budget, service learning, and much more! The curriculum requires students to complete an internship in which they work within the sport business industry and perform the skills necessary to enter the workforce. Minnesota State University, Mankato is located near the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, which offers a wide variety of internship opportunities. Some students pursue internship opportunities across the nation or abroad! These may range from assisting an athletic director, work in operations in intercollegiate athletics, or directing promotions for a professional sport franchise. Our students have worked with the Ryder Cup, Mankato Moondogs, Minnesota Vikings, Minnesota Lynx, MN Timberwolves, MN Twins, St. Paul Saints and more!

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

We require sport management majors to have a minor in one of the following business management, accounting, business law, marketing, economics, international business, finance, mass communications, or athletic coaching. In addition, we require our students to complete courses in sport facilities, sport finance, sport ethics, sport administration, and event management. Electives can include sport tourism, sport media, international sport management, and many more.
